A weekly Singing Class is connected with the Choir, and members receive the benefit of thorough instruction in the rudiments of music, and the elements of voice culture.

The ambition of the choir is to sing the better class of church music, in the best possible manner.

Applications from any, who may possess really good voices, are always acceptable.

Secretary's Report.

In presenting the Annual Reports of the different Societies, under the care of "The Bureau of Works and Charities," of the Anthon Memorial Church, it is a pleasure to state that the hope that by this organization, a more general interest would be developed, and greater efficiency secured, has been fully realized.

A regular meeting has been held on the first Wednesday of each month, from November, 1879, to May, 1880, inclusive, with a full attendance of members.

Monthly reports, as to the condition and working of each society, have been read, appropriations made from the General Fund, as the Head of any society deemed necessary for its efficiency, "Counsel asked, and wisdom given;" with an earnest desire to co-operate heartily with our Rector in his efforts for the good of Humanity in general and our surroundings in particular.

The Sunday School.

THE Sunday School continues to show that true quality of vigorous life,—growth. First growth in numbers, as shown by the large increase of names upon the roll; 653 scholars forming the membership of the School, the average attendance being about 402. These receive their weekly instruction from thirty-nine ladies and gentlemen, mostly of our own congregation. The Superintendant desires to express his gratitude to all for their faithful assistance, but feels that especial thanks are due to those, who, though not of our parish, have so kindly come to aid us in the shepherding of our lambs. The instructions given during the year past have been based upon the Church Sunday School Leaflets, edited by the Rev. G. W. Shinn; accompanied by a catechetical address reviewing the teachings of each Sunday made by the Rector or Mr. Embury, before the close of the session.

Apart from the stated instructions, the teachers and others connected with the School, both individually and through the Young Ladies Sewing Society, have looked after the children in their homes and helped them very greatly with food and clothing during the winter. Nor were they neglected during the summer vacation. By the kindness of the Rev. Willard Parsons, the benefits of the "Evening Post Fresh Air Fund" were extended to 102 of the very poorest boys and girls. Many of these had never visited the country before, and, doubtless not a few have brought back with them memories of true homes and the sweetness of rural life that will have an important influence upon their after lives. These summer vacations have proved useful in another way. They have been the means of securing permanent country homes in several instances for a number of our children. In acknowledge of these obligations to Mr. Parsons our "Bureau of Works and Charities" at their recent meeting in November, on my motion unanimously adopted the following resolution, a certified copy of which the Secretary of the Bureau has kindly placed in my hands, to wit:

RESOLVED: That this Bureau extend a vote of thanks to the Rev. Mr. Parsons, superintendent of the Evening Post Fresh Air Fund, for his kindness in including a large number of children connected with our Mission School as beneficiaries of that Fund.

WM. H. ROBINSON,
Secretary.

The Infant School, which is entirely a mission work, has under Mrs. Day's faithful management and gentle care, not only far exceeded the comfort and accommodations of the school room, but in consequence, seriously endangers week by week the health of the little ones.

It has become a serious question whether it is right any longer to violate sanitary laws in our efforts to save children's souls. I do not think that a stronger appeal, than this simple statement of a plain fact, can be made, to stir every true hearted servant of God in this church to make every effort to provide larger and healthier school-rooms for our use.

Without entering into particulars it will suffice to say that the Christmas and Easter festivities were observed as usual; also that a number of the youngest children enjoyed the benefit of Mr. Barnum's invitation, extended to them through the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Upham who kindly took them under her personal care.

The Young Men's Bible Class, under Mr. Charles S. Fitch has a membership of seventeen young men, who are almost without exception, communicants; half of them having taken this open and manly stand at our last confirmation.

A grown people's Bible Class was formed last winter and under the instructions of Miss. A. E. Hobart has already attained considerable size. It is becoming a most efficient work, with abundant promise of future usefulness.

It is designed during this winter to build up additional Bible classes as rapidly as teachers can be found to take charge of them.

We expect shortly to have our Library replenished with a small stock of new books;—(it ought to be entirely renewed). This will increase greatly the efficiency of the school. And again, we are called upon to express our indebtedness to Mrs. Upham, by whose energy almost the whole amount in hand, for this purpose, was secured. Nor must I omit to mention how great is our obligation to the Rev. G. S. Baker Superintendent of St. Luke's Hospital and to the Sisters in charge of St. Mary's Free Hospital for Children for their repeated kindnesses to the little ones of our schools.

In concluding, I must say, for the children, themselves, that while they have received much, they have also given generously out of their little, both to missions in Japan, and in support of a little school fellow at St. John Land.

The Infant School.

The Infant School has so altogether outgrown the capacity of the room designed for its use, that the little children are compelled to stand throughout the entire time of school. The question naturally comes, what is to be done with the many more who, when the colder days come, will crowd into the room? The children composing the Infant School, are without an exception, gathered from the families of the very poor, and from homes most unhomelike and wretched. One need but look into the little faces so prematurely old, to realize that to them, life must ever have been a struggle. Insufficiently fed, scantily clothed, what can they know of comfort? Of the money appropriated during the year to the Infant school, more than one-half has been expended for shoes. The amount seems large, but it has not been possible to make it less. The money used toward the payment of rents also seems large, yet in every case, there has been stern necessity. A woman whose husband deserted her, was, with her five children turned into the street; the youngest had died a day or two before of malignant diphtheria; she had no where to go. In another case the mother and three of the children died in May last from absolute starvation. She was an American, and a Protestant, and quite unused to begging, as long as she was able to work she took care of her old Mother and of her children. The husband squandered all of his earnings. After her death, he deserted his children and their old grandmother, leaving the rent overdue and unpaid. They, too, were compelled to give up their room. In yet another case, a young man with consumption, and near the end of his life was, with his wife and three children compelled to leave their room, and go into the street. He was too weak to walk even one block, and except for the kindness of a friend who offered her room, he must have staid in the street. Such cases cannot be resisted.

Most gratefully would bundles of partly worn clothing be received and especially half-worn shoes, as thereby the amount otherwise necessarily expended might, be greatly reduced. God's poor are always with us. Dare we turn away from them? Surely we cannot ask in vain.

JEANNETTE M. DAY

November 10th, 1880.

Third Annual Report OF The Free Kindergarten.

The Kindergarten was opened the first week in October, 1879, and was suspended for the Summer on the 15th day of June 1880. During this period it was in daily session, with the exception of Saturdays and Sundays, and of the usual holiday seasons.

There have been eighty (80) names on the roll, with an average attendance of sixty (60). Six (6) assistants have been associated with our Kindergartener, two (2) of them were in attendance each day. The usual dinner has been given to the children daily, and a bountiful feast at Thanksgiving and Christmas. On the latter joyous day, Santa Claus again visited the Kindergarten through the friendly offices of our President, Mrs. Herter, and a merry time ensued.

By the kind services of Mrs. Upham, invitations were procured for Barnum's show, and General Tom Thumb's exhibition, to the delight of the children.

Alike on Thanksgiving Day and on Christmas, the congregation was invited down to the Kindergarten room after services, and given an opportunity of witnessing our work.

Many visitors have been in to examine our experiment during the year, and competent judges have expressed their satisfaction with it in a way that at once renders due honor to our Kindergartener and her self-denying assistants, and complete assurance to all the friends of this Child-Garden, that therein the little ones of our Heavenly Father, are indeed being trained to grow up as "The Trees of the Lord." All doubt is removed from the minds of those who have watched this new feature of Church education, that it does fulfill its promise of laying the true foundation for the culture of life, toward the "perfect manhood" of body, mind and soul.

Last year in our report we said: "It places the little ones, in the most formative period of life, under a training which develops the bodily health and the mental powers, and cultivates the moral and religious nature through the joyous occupations and the beautiful spirit of a true Child-Garden. Would that the churches saw the immense possibilities of good in these real infant schools." They are beginning to do so. Several Kindergartens have been opened by churches during the year. We have reason to believe, largely, through the example our's has set.

The Editor of the Christian Union has only lately asked for an article describing our Kindergarten, from which widespreading of our experiment, we hope for many more Kindergartens.

Our Kindergartener has carried on a Training Class for Kindergarteners, but we are sorry to report the failure of our endeavors to found a Training School for Nurses on the Kindergarten method. We could not find the proper women. It must come sooner or later.

We have opened a Primary Class for some of the children who are outgrowing the Kindergarten, and whom we wanted to hold for the industrial training we hope to build up; wherein that ideal of a sound and sensible education may be carried on, which is so well expressed in our ancient catechism, "to learn and labor truly to get mine own living and to do my duty in that state of life to which it has pleased God to call me."

Industrial School Report

FOR

1879 and 1880.

The Industrial School commenced its work for the winter, on Saturday, November 8th, and held 23 uninterrupted sessions. It started with an attendance of 135 children, and rapidly increased until 305 names were entered on the books ; the average attendance being about 200. Very soon, however, some 60 or more of the children, began gradually to leave, a few going out to service, but the majority leaving for want of some one to teach them. The Infant class was without a teacher the whole winter, consequently the little ones did not receive any instruction whatever. On the 10th of April, closing day, 37 prizes were given to the children who excelled in sewing ; their work was beautifully done, and reflected great credit upon their teachers. During the winter 506 garments were given to the children. All of these, (with the exception of 29 pieces, for the sewing of which we are indebted to the Ladies of the Employment Society, to whom we render our sincere thanks), were made by the children ; using 320 yards of unbleached muslin, and 65 yards of bleached muslin, and 240 yards of calico. We most gratefully acknowledge the following donations:

From John E. Kaughran & Co., 52 yds. calico.

From Mrs. Blanchard, 12 yds. unbleached muslin.

From Mrs. E. M. Brown, a case containing 200 oranges.

REPORT
OF
Kitchen-Garden Schools,

FOR THE WINTER OF '79-'80.

There were three Kitchen-Gardens started in the Sunday School room of the Church, in the first week of November, 1879. They met on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, weekly, and continued in regular operation for the six months which constitute the Kitchen-Garden Year. Each class had one principal teacher, and three or four assistants. The number of scholars on each roll average 25, with an average weekly attendance of 22 or 23. There was great interest shown by the children in the lessons, and all the teachers reported very satisfactory progress in their classes. The parents, in many instances, testified to the increased helpfulness and practical knowledge of the children as shown in their home life, and in two or three cases the elder children succeeded in getting employment before the end of the season. The demand for girls who had received this training was constant in the "Labor Bureau," but most of the scholars are still too young for such positions.

Early in June, the sessions of the school were concluded with a public exhibition, conducted by Miss Kerner. By her kindness, twenty-four scholars were selected from the three classes, and prepared for the occasion. Many friends of the school were present and expressed great pleasure in listening to the songs of the Kitchen-garden, to the Rector's cheery and encouraging address, and in watching the children go through their novel exercises. The festival was concluded with a bountiful collation, supplied to the whole school.

The expenses for the year have been :

Tuition of Teachers at the Wilson Industrial School,.....	$36 00
Materials from Schermerhorn.....	6 13
Extras.....	49
Total.....	$42 62

As there was $4.19 remaining in the treasury from the previous year, and our appropriation of $40 was given from the general fund during the winter, there is now a surplus of $1.55 remaining.

Employment Society.

The Employment Society, after some delay in organizing, entered upon its winters' work on Wednesday, November 5th, 1879, and continued until the close of March, 1880. Notwithstanding the short season the amount of work accomplished quite equals that of last year. More than five hundred garments were made, and about thirty women were furnished sewing each week at sensible prices. And because the prices paid were fair the demand coming from the really needy, even in so mild a winter as the last, was greater than could be met.

The Society desires, therefore, to increase its usefulness this winter, and earnestly requests a greater personal interest of the ladies of the congregation. Perhaps the best appeal which the Society can make for increased assistance, and which in fact is its raison d'être, is that it comes to the poor with that true help which does not lessen their self-respect and independence of character, while it aids them in struggling with the difficulties of their condition. We cannot but feel that if alms were denied, except in the case of sickness and old age, and a temporary assistance only rendered in this, or some similar way, pauperism, with its sorrows and vices, would be largely reduced and habits of thrift and industry promoted.

Free Labor Bureau.

REPORT

For the Year ending June 1st, 1880.

The "Labor Bureau" resumed its work December 16th, 1879, and was continued until June 1st, 1880. During that time we have entered on our books, one hundred and forty-nine names, and employment was found by us for forty-eight persons.

On May 1st, the books were closed so far as entering any more names, but the work of the Bureau was continued till June 1st. The applicants have been fewer in number than ever before, probably owing to the mildness of the winter; but those that applied seemed to be in much need of the help they asked, and in many cases received.

The directress wishes to express her thanks to the ladies who have aided her in the labors of this Society.

The Bureau has been open every day from 11 to 12 o'clock, in the basement of the church, when some one of the following ladies was on duty:

Fresh Air Fund.

It is impossible to begin a report of this years work of our "Fresh Air Fund" without the sad effects consequent upon the burning of the "Seawanhaka" being uppermost in the thoughts. Many a time has a commencement been made, and then again and again the "Memo" book has been laid aside with a feeling that perhaps, in some mysterious way, a postponement of its record might blot out the consequence of the accident.

On the afternoon of the 28th day of June, under the care of our visitor Mrs. Adams, a happy party of sixteen women and children, with bright anticipations of a few weeks of rest and recreation at Sea Cliff, left the city on the Seawanhaka. Of the party several were invalids, one woman just recovering from a serious illness, was put on board the boat by her husband, their three children also of the party. Their "Good-byes" were said and the boat started on her last trip. This woman, one of her daughters and a little niece lost their lives, others of the party were seriously burned or otherwise injured, all lost what clothing they had taken for two weeks wear.

To the calmness and presence of mind of Mrs. Adams is due the rescue of a number under her charge.

The bodies of the woman and two children were recovered. The "Fresh Air Fund" buried them. A simple record but how much is involved in it.

The generous contributions to the Fund, added to the appropriations from the Bureau, warranted preparation for sending a larger number to the country than we had done in former years, and therefore arrangements were made with Mrs. Palen and Mrs. Richardson at Sea Cliff, whose houses were kept nearly full all summer.

The feature of our work, adopted last year, of sending the families of workingmen who could afford to contribute something towards the payment of board, was continued this summer, though in a more limited way, as the number of applications was so large from parties who could not pay anything, but whose cases demanded the relief our "Fresh Air Fund" could give. Toward the latter end of the summer, when the Fund was about exhausted, a woman brought a sickly looking boy, ten or eleven years of age, saying he was the only one left of her family of six children, urgently pleading that she might take him into the country else she feared she would lose him also.

The receipts from the fair held by the little daughter and niece of Mr. Edward M. Brown, at his summer residence in New London, enabled me to send them and several others whose claims were equally urgent.

Another feature of our work much enlarged this summer was the providing means for poor people to visit their friends in the country.

Two years ago a boy from our Sunday School went out with one of the Evening Post Fresh Air parties, and found a home with a farmer in the interior of the state. This year the farmer gave the boy the privilege of inviting his mother to make him a visit. Our "Fresh Air Fund" gave her the means to make the visit. While there she found a place at a neighboring farmers for her second boy. This appears a very simple statement, but it means two boys saved from the dangers of a life in the streets of New York and a widowed mother's heart made glad.

A situation in a country boarding house was procured for a widow where she received a small sum in addition to board for herself and one little child for what services she could render, her other two children being placed at a neighbors for a nominal sum for nearly all summer.

Two of our most worthy beneficiaries, a widow and her daughter, who for years have struggled and labored for the necessities of life, were furnished the means to visit relations in New Jersey where the father of the widow had lived and died a highly respected clergyman.

These are a few specimens of the work of our "Fresh Air Fund" this year.

Our record is 106 persons given from two to three weeks rest in the country, 7 provided means to visit relations, 92 given one day's excursion with bountiful provisions, and a large number provided with tickets for steamboat trips in our harbor.

Mrs. Adams has procured admission to different institutions for sixty children.

Could we be sure of as generous contributions to our Fund for the Summer of 1881 as we have had for that of the present year, it might be more economical for us to hire a furnished cottage. Such could have been had this year at Sea Cliff for a very small sum. With a competent person in charge the same amount we have had this summer would enable us to benefit a larger number of persons.

A financial statement accompanies this report, showing a total expenditure of $888.07, which includes the sum of $155.25 paid out on account of the Seawanhaka accident.

Free Entertainment Committee.

It is not easy to estimate the pleasure derived from the entertainments of last winter, by the poor, to whom they brought diversion and cheer. We may well hope that the carefully selected "Recitations" and excellent "Vocal Music" exercised a refining and elevating influence.

An admirable series of lectures, contributed by the ladies of the Sorosis, gave valuable and edifying instruction, and received intelligent attention. While thanking heartily those who have aided us in the past, we earnestly hope that further offers of assistance may be given to enable us to continue this inexpensive but not unimportant work of charity, with increasing success.

During the season, ten free entertainments were given by the Committee, and five lectures by the ladies of the Sorosis.

The average number of persons present was about four hundred

Loan Fund.

The custodian of the Loan Fund respectfully reports that one year ago this fund consisting of $84.39, was entrusted to his care. From it, various sums have been loaned from time to time, to persons whose circumstances brought them within its scope.

The beneficiaries have not however, as a whole, appreciated the intention of the fund, or their own obligations, as fully as could have been desired, and, although some returns have been made, the general result is not encouraging.

The difficulty in administering such a fund successfully, arises from the fact that the honest, industrious poor, to whom it stretches out a helping hand in times of especial adversity and distress, always shrink from making their circumstances known, and from incurring obligations even in this lenient form.

From the experience your custodian has had, he is of the opinion that the fund should be in the hands of a person of abundant leisure, to seek out worthy cases and also to keep up a constant supervision of them, or it might perhaps be transferred, with advantage, to some other branch of the Bureau.

Visitor's Report.

A visitor's work is such, as to make it very difficult to write out a report. Statistics can give no just idea of it, and I have never been in the habit of keeping any record.

I make, at least, forty visits every week, but their nature is such, that they can hardly be described. Meeting, as I do, with cases of so many different kinds, I do not know where or how to begin to relate them. During the year I have distributed (1000) one thousand tracts, and have never before met with such neglect on the part of parents to send their children either to day or Sunday school. I find that a great deal of their distress comes from carelessness about these things, and a great deal comes, too, from want of courage to face hard times. So I try to give them courage to make them interested in good things. But often I find cases like this; four families living on one floor, with typhoid fever in one family, an insane woman in another, and an epileptic girl in another.

There are many widows with boys, that they cannot manage, and others with so many little children, that they are hindered from earning their living. I have placed sixty of such little ones this year in the "Nursery and Childs Hospital," Staten Island, and several boys in the New York Juvenile Asylum. Bellevue, Roosevelt, The Woman's and St. Mary's Hospitals have been very kind in taking care of many sick children and grown people for me. St. Mary's Hospital has received all the children (six) of one family during the year. Their mother is now being treated at the Woman's Hospital. A great many calls come to me from destitute people, to place them in positions, or to find work for them. If I could be assisted in doing this, it would be a very great relief.

In looking over the old list of names for "The Bread and Beef House," I see that twenty families have been brought to believe that there is a God, who recognizes the rich and the poor, the evil and good. They all go to church and are good christian people, using their influence with their neighbors to a great extent.
